ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Encoded moving image data is decoded, the decoded moving image data is intraframe encoded and stored, and the image which was stored and intraframe encoded is decoded and subjected to an arbitrary edition, the edited frame image is encoded by an moving image encoding system, thereby reducing a memory capacity when a moving image edition is performed and realizing a high processing speed.